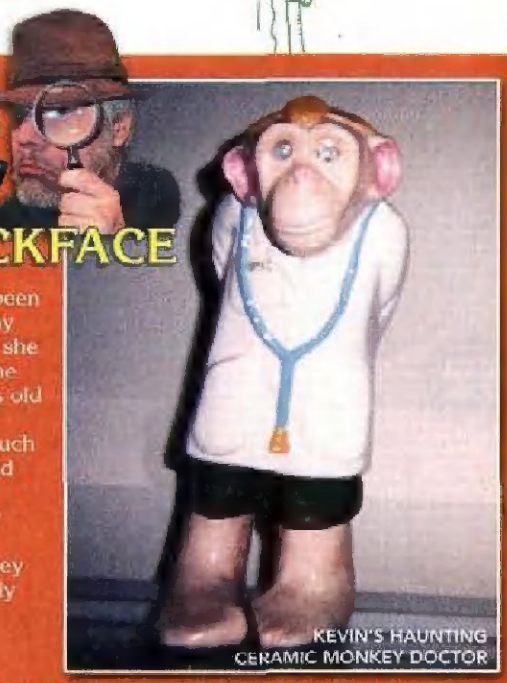
WHEN THE T-SHIRT HITS THE FAN

I would like a Bitterman t-shirt in large or extra-large. If you haven't made them yet, you're missing out on a great revenue item as that is the best thing in the magazine! Please send me in the right direction.

Tim Bucaro, Coconut Creek, FL

Bucaroo — Unfortunately, there is no Bitterman merchandise available at this moment. The good news, though, is that it has never been easier to make your own officially licensed Bitterman products! Here's how it's done — first you need to buy the exclusive rights from Bitterman creator Garth Gerhart and MAD Magazine, then apply for a small-business loan from a local money-lending institution, hire a design team to brainstorm graphics and materials for the shirt, then research which third-world children have the nimblest t-shirt-making fingers, and finally, find a "mule" to bring your finished t-shirt back to the good ol' U-S-of-A! Congratulations on completing your one large Bitterman t-shirt — repeat the above steps to make your very own extra-large t-shirt! —Ed.

ANTIQUES FREAKSHOW WITH HANS BRICKFACE



KEVIN'S HAUNTING CERAMIC MONKEY DOCTOR

This ceramic monkey doctor has been in our family for at least 30 years. My dad was a doctor and a patient said she made it for him. His initials are on the coat pocket. When I turned 18 years old and was moving out of my house, I found Dr. Monkey in the garage. Much to my surprise, my father said I could have this priceless antique for free! I couldn't believe how generous my father could be. What a great man! Please tell me how much my monkey doctor is worth. That way, I can truly know the generosity of my father.

Kevin Behrens, El Paso, TX

Han's Appraisal — If you had brought this item to my attention six months ago, I would have simply labeled it a disturbing and worthless hunk of crap and left it at that. But a lot has changed in the last six months, thanks in no small part to the runaway popularity of the MAD feature "Monkeys Are Always Funny." I have good news and bad news. The good news is it's a seller's market and if Dr. Monkey was in my shop, I could easily get you $40 for it. Now the bad news: if you had the complete set of "Professional Monkey Workers" (including Monkey Lawyer, Monkey Securities Trader and the ultra-rare Monkey Telemarketer) it could fetch upwards of $5,000 at auction. Call me when you find these three remaining gems!

ENVELOPE OF THE MONTH

Just another rabid fan saying you guys rock hardcore! I love MAD! Hope you like the envelope!

Sarah Abele, Midwest City, OK

Honest Abe — Boy oh boy, between the request for Bitterman merchandise and this Envelope of the Month, it seems like the whole world is coming down with Bittermania! It's just a matter of time before Tim Bucaro's officially licensed t-shirts are electrifying the fashion scene of Midwest City, OK! —Ed.

READ BADGE DISCOURAGED

I really enjoyed the article "The MAD World of High-Tech Communication" in issue #443. See, I'm in Boy Scout Troop #8 in Hinsdale, IL and I'm working on my Communications Merit Badge. I'm 14 years old and I'm the Senior Patrol Leader of this troop. This article helped me get this merit badge and I thank you for printing it.

John P. Anderson, Hinsdale, IL

Port-O-John — Thanks for your letter and congratulations on getting your Communications Merit Badge. With any luck, the Boy Scouts will soon debut a new merit badge for writing boring, boastful letters! Say hi to your Scout Master and go ahead and put us down for two boxes of Thin Mints! —Ed.

New from the Crown Publishing Group

From Aaron McGruder, creator of The Boondocks comic strip; Reginald Hudlin, writer and director of House Party; and with illustrations from Kyle Baker, one of today's hottest graphic novelists, Birth of a Nation is a scathingly funny graphic novel that asks the question: What would happen if East St. Louis seceded from the Union?

"Makes The Art of War seem like The Art of Bore."
—CHRIS ROCK

"Reggie and Aaron are doing to comic books what Public Enemy and NWA did to the music business."
—ICE CUBE

Had enough "self-help?" Try a little "self-hurt," with these eight simple steps to an unhealthier you! Learn how to find the best gateway drug for you! Learn why condoms are for suckers, and why smoking is cool! Learn how to lose way too much weight in 90 days by releasing your "inner child-body!" This (satirical) book provides crucial instructions for self-destruction.

"The most ridiculous unsound advice anyone can ask for. Way cool and very, very funny."
—The Toronto Sun

This hilarious, shocking New York Times bestseller traces the scandals, back-stabbing, and high-stakes gambling behind the multimillion dollar wrestling business—and the man behind it all, ruthless wrestling promoter Vince McMahon. Now in paperback with a new updated afterword.

"Reading this...is almost as entertaining and shocking as watching the most extreme antics of McMahon's comic book style creations such as Steve Austin and The Rock."
—Publishers Weekly

THE ED'S NIFTY FIFTY™

Here's my submission for the THE ED'S NIFTY FIFTY™ — a picture of me, my current issue of MAD and Harvey Pekar. I work at the department of Sociology at the University of Minnesota. My department hosted a lecture with Mr. Pekar and also another small private discussion session with graduate students. He was impressed that he was identified as a "comic book superstar" (there was no acknowledgement of the "socially maladjusted" part). He also mentioned MAD Magazine during his public lecture, saying that MAD was one of the comics he first read as a youngster. Thanks MAD! Although my friends make fun of me that I still have a subscription to MAD at age 26, it's still one of my favorite reads!

Tovan Tran, Minneapolis, MN

A SKITTISH HARVEY PEKAR AND TOVAN TRAN

Tran-tastic — We have one question: why does American Splendor creator Harvey Pekar look like he's recoiling in disgust? We don't know if it's the magazine or you, but he looks a little scared and confused by the whole picture-taking process. We hope your shameless grab for a free three-year subscription hasn't scarred poor Harvey permanently! —Ed.

The Big Easel

This is me holding an Alfred E. Neuman gumball machine that I made back in 7th grade shop class. I am now a sophomore in college (as if the lack of facial grooming didn't give it away) and it's been sitting at my house ever since, so I figured it's about time I share my creation with those who inspired it. Needless to say, I was one of the few kids who failed shop that year.

Blake Young, Lake Jackson, TX

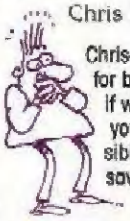
Shake 'n' Blake — Between your unsettling facial hair and the creepy bootleg Alfred gumball machine, we're betting that the ladies on campus are just filling the dry-erase board on your door with loads of sultry messages. For your sake, we hope you've changed the gumballs since you made it almost a decade ago! —Ed.

BLAKE AND HIS "CHICK MAGNET" GUMBALL MACHINE

READ IT AND CHEAP

I have been subscribing to your magazine for about eight years now. In that time, countless movies have been made. Because of your movie spoofs, I have not had to waste my money seeing any of them! I would like to thank you for saving me hundreds, possibly thousands, of dollars that would have been spent at the movies or the video store. And because my subscription is a gift subscription eight years running (thanks mom), I haven't paid a dime!

Chris Paladin, Baldwin, MO



Chris-tal — Thanks for your letter and for being such a loyal reader. However, if we may make a suggestion, perhaps you could take those "hundreds, possibly thousands, of dollars" that you saved and finally move out of your mom's basement! —Ed.

CAMP GROUNDS FOR CONCERN

I am a 12-year-old kid that reads your magazine a lot. I have been at summer camp for three weeks and I have nothing to read except two MAD magazines. I was hoping that you could send me one of those package things with MAD stuff, because my brain is dead reading the same crap for three weeks.

Max Eingorn, Nassau, NY

Tex-Max — Reading your letter got us thinking. Your parents sent you to some "camp" for the summer, and after three weeks, they still haven't sent any care packages? We have some bad news for you, Scout — clearly, your parents have lost interest in you and have moved on. We hope they taught you some survival skills at this "camp," 'cause you're on your own for the foreseeable future! We would gladly send you a batch of MADs, but it doesn't look like you're going to have a permanent address anytime soon! —Ed.

MAD FAN OF THE MONTH

MAD FAN OF THE MONTH, FRED GAGIN

This odd creature is my Grandfather in-law, visiting Arizona from Canada. His name is Fred Gagin — besides being a MAD fan, he is probably the oldest MAD fan!

Wyatt Loren, Ontario, Canada

Wyatt Riot — Not only is Fred the oldest MAD fan, but in our estimation, he's also the creepiest! On the upside though, since he is only an in-law (as you were so eager to point out) at least you don't share any genes with him! Vive le snug Spy Vs. Spy boxer shorts! —Ed.

ALFRED LOOK-A-LIKE

DERRICK'S SCARILY ACCURATE ALFRED LOOK-A-LIKE

While at my brother's baseball game, I noticed a young boy who resembled Mr. Neuman. Jordan Whittingslow of Puyallup, WA, age seven, was eager to make his contribution. I hope this lands me a prize of some sort!

Derrick Morlino, Spanaway, WA

Sunny D — We're happy that you sent in this picture, unfortunately, no prize is given for Alfred look-a-likes. However, what we can give you is a valuable life lesson — as a rule of thumb, it's probably not the best idea to approach strange young boys and ask to take their picture. (Even the most innocent of intentions can be wildly misinterpreted, take our word on this!) In any event, we're sorry that you risked arrest for nothing! —Ed.

THE SPIES HAVE IT

MAD fans and soda lovers everywhere were overjoyed to see the new Mountain Dew ads featuring MAD's own deceitful duo, Spy Vs. Spy, battling it out over a can of Dew. Below are a few pictures from the two commercials that are currently running. They can also be viewed at mountaindew.com!

BITTERMAN

Dr. Lindsey, you're a freakin' genius...
I took your advice from our last session and confronted the people who have made me the most angry. It was so liberating to rid myself of all that frustration and built-up rage. I can't believe how great it feels to have all that pain and anger off my chest.
First, I confronted my old boss, Mr. Grandy...
I went right up into his office, sat down and told him how much of an unethical bastard he is. Then I explained that even though he fired me when I needed his financial security the most, there is no amount of money in the world that will correct his horrible breath and bad toupee...GOD, THAT FELT GOOD!
Then, I went and saw my ex-wife, Lisa. I was a little nervous at first, but I told her how angry I was to find her and my best friend making out on my favorite leather recliner. It felt so great to let her know how much she hurt me.
Then I glanced over her shoulder and saw my best friend watching TV on that same recliner.
COUNTY JAIL
Then what happened?
I don't know. I blacked out and woke up in here.

Peeper Porker is having trouble expressing his feelings of love for MT. And he's not sure he can reveal his identity to his friends and family. My goal was to create a perpetual sun that never stopped shining! Ten percent of it was funded by OurCrap Corporation and the other 90% was funded by Coppertone! But now I wish it was funded by Allstate, because this piece of crap I built is totally out of control and it's definitely not in good hands!
Help! Spider-Sham, help us! Doc Schlock is having a wardrobe malfunction of epic proportions!
When my father was killed in a fight with Spider-Sham and I took over as President of OurCrap Corporation, I promised him I'd continue to fund experiments that were likely to go out of control and destroy innocent lives! The problem is, he keeps asking me for more and more funds — and now he's really putting the squeeze on me!

MT that's ridiculous! I think about you all the time! I hang on your every word!
So why didn't you come to see my play?
What, you're in a play? That's great! Let me know when it opens and I'll be there! Maybe you could send me some free tickets!

Uncle Been, I can't live your dreams any more! I need a life of my own!

Peeper, you've been given a gift of great power! Do you know what comes along with great power?

A great pair of spandex tights?

Well, yeah, that's a given! But it also comes with a choice! To live your own life or the life picked for you by your destiny!

Is that all you can offer me — comic book hero rhetoric?

It's a lot more serious than that! It's a pivotal plot point, so don't take it lightly!

ETERNITY 25 MI

Hey did you throw this uniform in the garbage?

Yes, sir!

Well, listen up! Monday, you can put out newspapers! Wednesday, you can put out metal and glass! Friday, it's plastic and Saturday, it's discarded superhero costume day! Today's Friday! That's gonna cost you $25!

Big deal! I'll send them five bucks and my aunt's $20 I.O.U.!

LOST! AUDIENCE'S ATTENTION DURING THESE LONG, BORING, NO SPIDER-MAN SCENES!

I have big news for you, MJ! I've changed a lot in the past two panels! I want to be your boyfriend again!

Well I have big news for you too, Peeper! I'm getting married!

Oh, no! That changes everything, doesn't it?

Yes! We'll only be able to date when my future husband goes on business trips! But the good news is, since he's an astronaut, he doesn't just leave town, he leaves Earth! Pucker up!

I found this in the garbage!

Stop the presses! I want a new front page headline! "Spider-Sham Ends Career!" Then a smaller headline: "Sends publisher of Daily Bungle his Uniform As Proof He's Retired!"

Chief, how can you make up headlines that aren't true?

Easy, I trained at The New York Post!

KERRY'S CHOIC

I can't believe I'm watching a mugging and I'm not lifting a finger to help!

Don't feel bad! You're just like the other 200 people watching and not lifting a finger!

I'm not helping either! These days, people are so eager to sue, it's best not to get involved!

Who said that?

I did!

I have a confession, Aunt Mayday! I just can't live with it any more!

Don't make such a big deal out of it, Peeper!

But I'm afraid it will shock you!

DAD?

I'm a modern woman! I know a lot about closet homosexuals! I'm just so glad you decided to come out! Every time you asked me to sew a button on your spandex tights, I knew!

MAD Copyright © 2006 by E.C. Publications, Inc.

It's nothing like that, Aunt Mayday! It's about Uncle Been! You see, before he died, he drove me to the library, but I went someplace else! I entered a wrestling match and won some money, but then the guy who owned the arena wouldn't pay me! Then a thief stole the owner's money and tried to take Uncle Been's car! So, because of my desire for revenge, Uncle Been got shot! I tried to tell you this so many times, but you always fell asleep!
ZZZZ--ZZZ-Z-Z-Z-ZZ-Z-Z!
Peeper, to save money, I'm moving into a smaller place!
Well, let me help! Should I put everything in this big carton?
No, dear, that's what I'm moving into!
Not bad! Beats my place!
HOME SWEET HOME
See that boy? One day he wants to be Spider-Sham...
Yeah, well tough, because I got a five picture deal! I mean, really? He does?
Spider-Sham is a hero! And everybody loves a hero! And sometimes in order to be a hero, we have to give up our dream! Or even a girlfriend! Even if that girlfriend is named MT! If I'm being too subtle here, let me know and I'll dumb it down for you!
No, Aunt Mayday, I know exactly what I have to do! I'll just rip off my clothes and...
RIP!
KITCHEN
ROOM
SECRET SPIDER LAIR
One other piece of advice! Before you rip your clothes off, make sure you're wearing you're Spider-Sham outfit underneath!
What is it with you? I go to the bank, you come through the wall! I go for a coffee, you come through the wall! There's no way I'm going to the men's room!
Find your friend Spider-Sham and tell him to meet me at 42nd Street and the Hudson River! At the pier that's always blowing up and shooting off fireballs! The one that for some strange reason, no one is suspicious of! And if Spider-Sham doesn't show up in the next 24 hours, I'll rip the flesh off your girlfriend's bones!
Okay, but no kissing her! I couldn't stand that!
LATTE SPECIAL
PICK UP HERE!
Look! Two people are fighting on top of that train!
Some cheapskates will do anything to avoid paying a measly $2 fare!

MAD Copyright © 2006 by E.C. Publications, Inc.

Th — Tha — That was the most difficult thing I did in my life, but I stopped this speeding subway train!
Yeah and you ripped up six miles of track and almost destroyed the train!
If you had just waited another 15 seconds, the automatic brakes would have stopped the train with zero damage! You fool!
How come Uncle Been with all his sage advice never metioned the lack of gratitude that comes with this job?
DOES THIS GUY EVER WEAR HIS MASK?!?

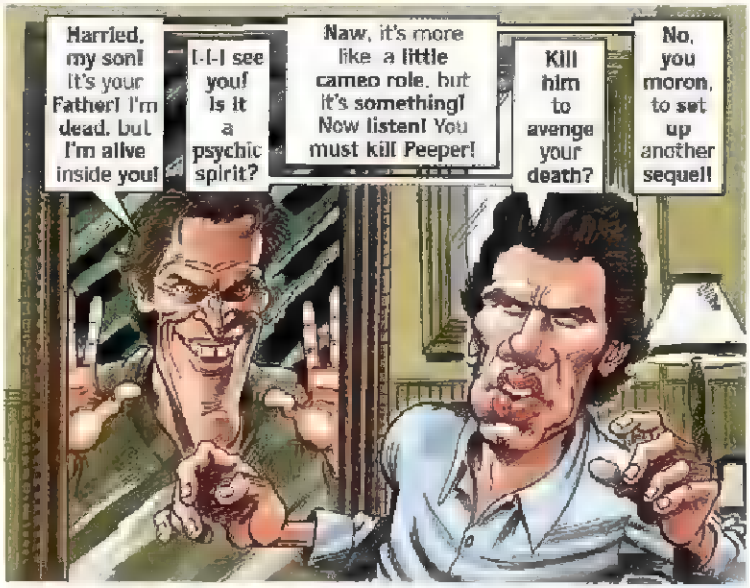
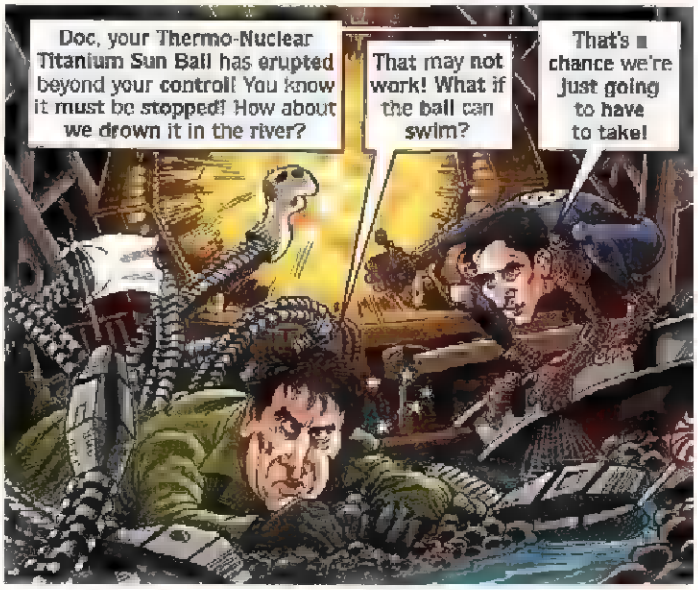
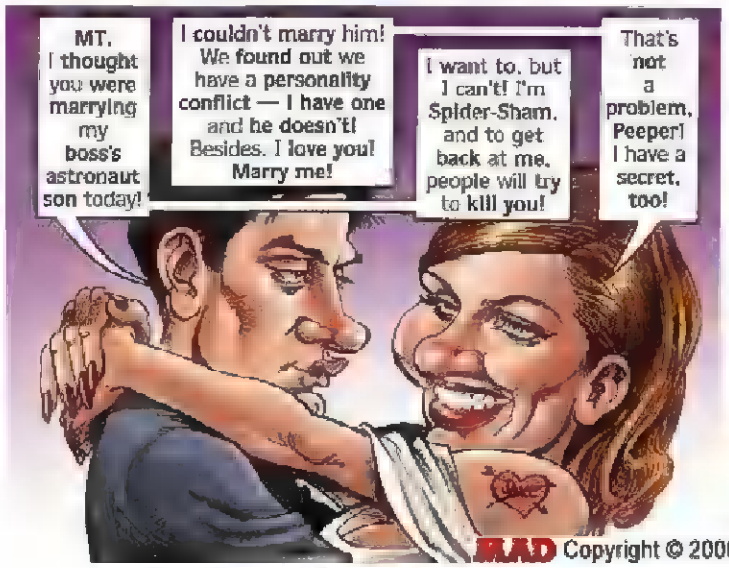
Spider-Sham is Peeper Porker! My best friend murdered my father!
Murdered is a strong word! I did kill him, though! He was trying to take over the world!
Take over the world? He combined two apartments into one to make a workshop! Granted he was concocting lethal gas, developing powerful bombs and generating tons of toxic waste, but at least the man had a hobby! Cut him some slack, will ya?



Harried, my son! It's your Father! I'm dead, but I'm alive inside you!
I-I-I see you! Is it a psychic spirit?
Naw, it's more like a little cameo role, but it's something! Now listen! You must kill Peeper!
Kill him to avenge your death?
No, you moron, to set up another sequel!



Doc, your Thermo-Nuclear Titanium Sun Ball has erupted beyond your control! You know it must be stopped! How about we drown it in the river?
That may not work! What if the ball can swim?
That's a chance we're just going to have to take!



MT, I thought you were marrying my boss's astronaut son today!
I couldn't marry him! We found out we have a personality conflict — I have one and he doesn't! Besides, I love you! Marry me!
I want to, but I can't! I'm Spider-Sham, and to get back at me, people will try to kill you!
That's not a problem, Peeper! I have a secret, too!

I may look like MT, a white chick, but I'm really Shawn Wayans!
What the heck are you doing here?
Since MAD only sends up hit movies, the one chance in hell of being in this magazine was to sneak in here!

BETWEEN IRAQ AND JIHAD PLACE DEPT.
Everyone knows that the U.S. is fighting a war on terrorism. Aside from that Crayola-inspired warning chart, however, it's not readily evident that anything is being done to guard our water supply, protect our food chain and secure our nuclear facilities. Is having 90-year-old ladies take their shoes off at airports the only thing the Bush administration has come up with to keep the homeland safe? Well, it turns out the answer to this question is, "NO!". In fact, George W. has a complete and comprehensive strategy for dealing with Osama and company. And fortunately for you, we've managed to get hold of this top-secret document! Rest easy, America, here is...

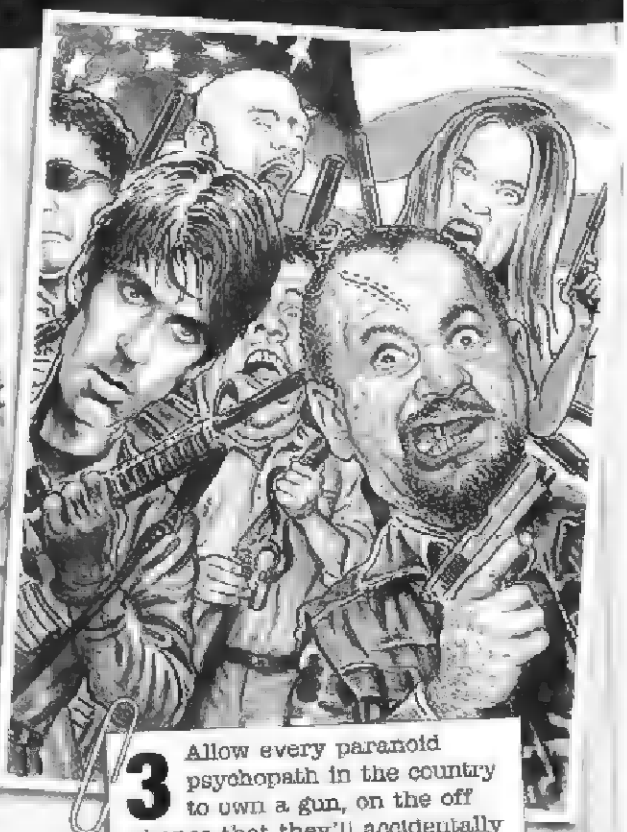
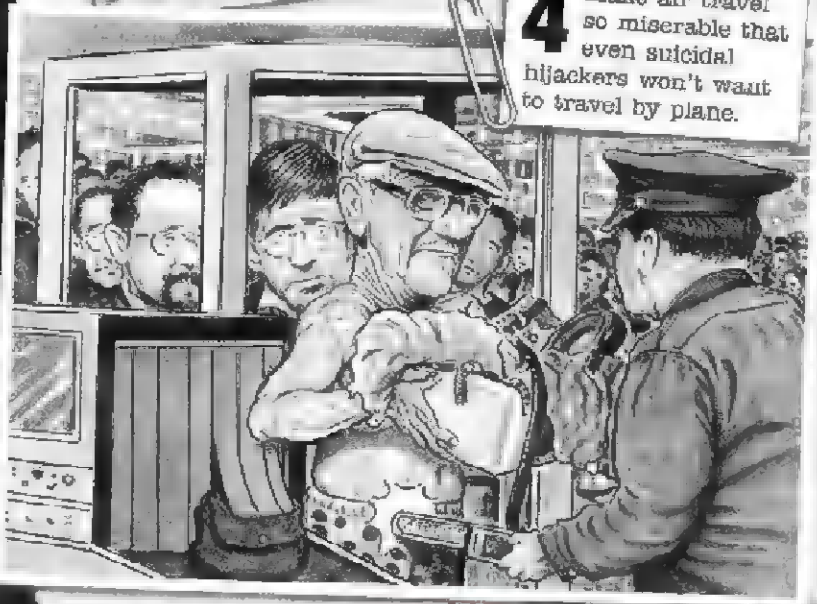
1 Show a calm, unflappable image to our enemies by going on vacation incessantly.



3 Allow every paranoid psychopath in the country to own a gun, on the off chance that they'll accidentally shoot a few sleeper agents.

2 Underfund the repair and maintenance of the nation's bridges, tunnels and public transportation, to trick terrorists into thinking they've already been blown up.

4 Make air travel so miserable that even suicidal hijackers won't want to travel by plane.

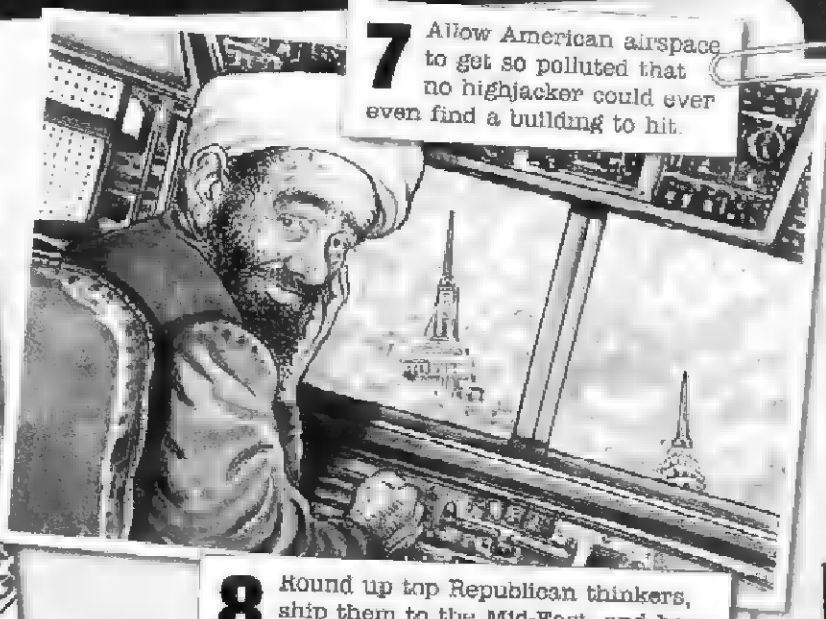


5 Make sure Americans have plenty of time to look for potential terrorist activities by not being saddled with mundane chores...such as going to work.

MAD Copyright © 2006 by E.C. Publications, Inc.

6 Screw up the economy so bad that impoverished wackos will no longer see the U.S. as a land of rich indulgence.

7 Allow American airspace to get so polluted that no highjacker could ever even find a building to hit.



8 Round up top Republican thinkers, ship them to the Mid-East, and have them use their vast experience to fix elections and install leaders who are lamebrain shills for U.S. industry.

9 Allow American crops to be genetically modified, radiated, and/or sprayed with toxic chemicals so that terrorists will find poisoning our food supply redundant.

10 Let the task of fighting terrorism be accomplished the way more and more work is being accomplished nowadays — by outsourcing it to India.

THE NOT READY FOR CRIME TIME PLAYERS DEPT.

Sure, we're all fed up with "Reality Shows" but there's a genre (for you, average MAD reader, that means style, type) of TV show that's even more annoying: The Cop Drama! They're endless. Law & Order, The Shield, The District, NYPD Blue, and all the CSIs ...there's CSI, CSI: Miami, CSI SVU, CSI: Staten Island (cable). They keep on coming! And, unlike Reality Shows, there's nobody warm and cuddly you can relate to, like William Hung or Donald Trump or Omarosa! Well, if you're fed up, here's two more crime shows to make you more fed up! The first one is very slow-paced and very unexciting. In fact, you can watch this one....

WITHOUT A TRACE

OF INTEREST

Okay, what do we have here?

Judson Hawke, 17, lead singer for an emo band, had a drug habit, girls stalking him, occasionally frequented gay bars, went out to the alley to score some coke and flash a busload of tourists! He suddenly disappeared!

Hmm... not much to go on, but we'll give it a shot! Did the kid have any enemies?

A few! Other emo bands, his manager, his dance coach, his drug dealer, his twin and millions of music fans who love tasteful music!

How do we know all this?

A hair fiber!

Good work, Dimmy!

On these TV crime shows, it's amazing how much info they get from a hair fiber!

Hurry! Every second counts!

Because we may lose him?

Because we may lose our audience to ER! We have to make psychological profiling look more exciting than an infected spleen!

A boy rock singer disappeared! What's the problem?

He could be kidnapped! He could be dead! The world may never see him again!

As I said, what's the problem?

Who are these guys?

They are a special unit of the FBI that is designed to find missing people!

Man, have we got our priorities screwed up! The FBI is conducting a massive search for a coked-up, sexually-perverted, waste-of-life rock singer and nobody seems to be looking for bin Laden and al-Zawahiri!

MAD Copyright © 2006 by E.C. Publications, Inc.

Before we start, let's see if all the TV crime show cliché characters are here! Great-looking blonde!
No-non-sense black woman!
Token Latino!
Dull white guy?
Here!
That's me! Got a problem with that?
Yo!
Here! Don't forget the B-list actor who couldn't get a gig in films!
Yeah, I'm here! Where else would I be? Okay, let's roll!
Why is it that every one of these TV crime dramas has a beautiful blonde detective? In real life, the female detectives look like death!
I'm an investigator first and a woman second! I hope my looks won't be a distraction!
Certainly not!
Tell me, do you always butter your toc?
Er... not always! Sometimes I use cream cheese!
Let's reconstruct the "Day of Disappearance!" Track Judson Hawke's last 24 hours!
Looks like we've got an anal retentive maniac and paranoid control freak on our hands!
Nah, Judson just seems like a mixed up young kid!
I'm talking about our Hack! The guy's obsessed with charts and graphs!
He's like a human USA Today!

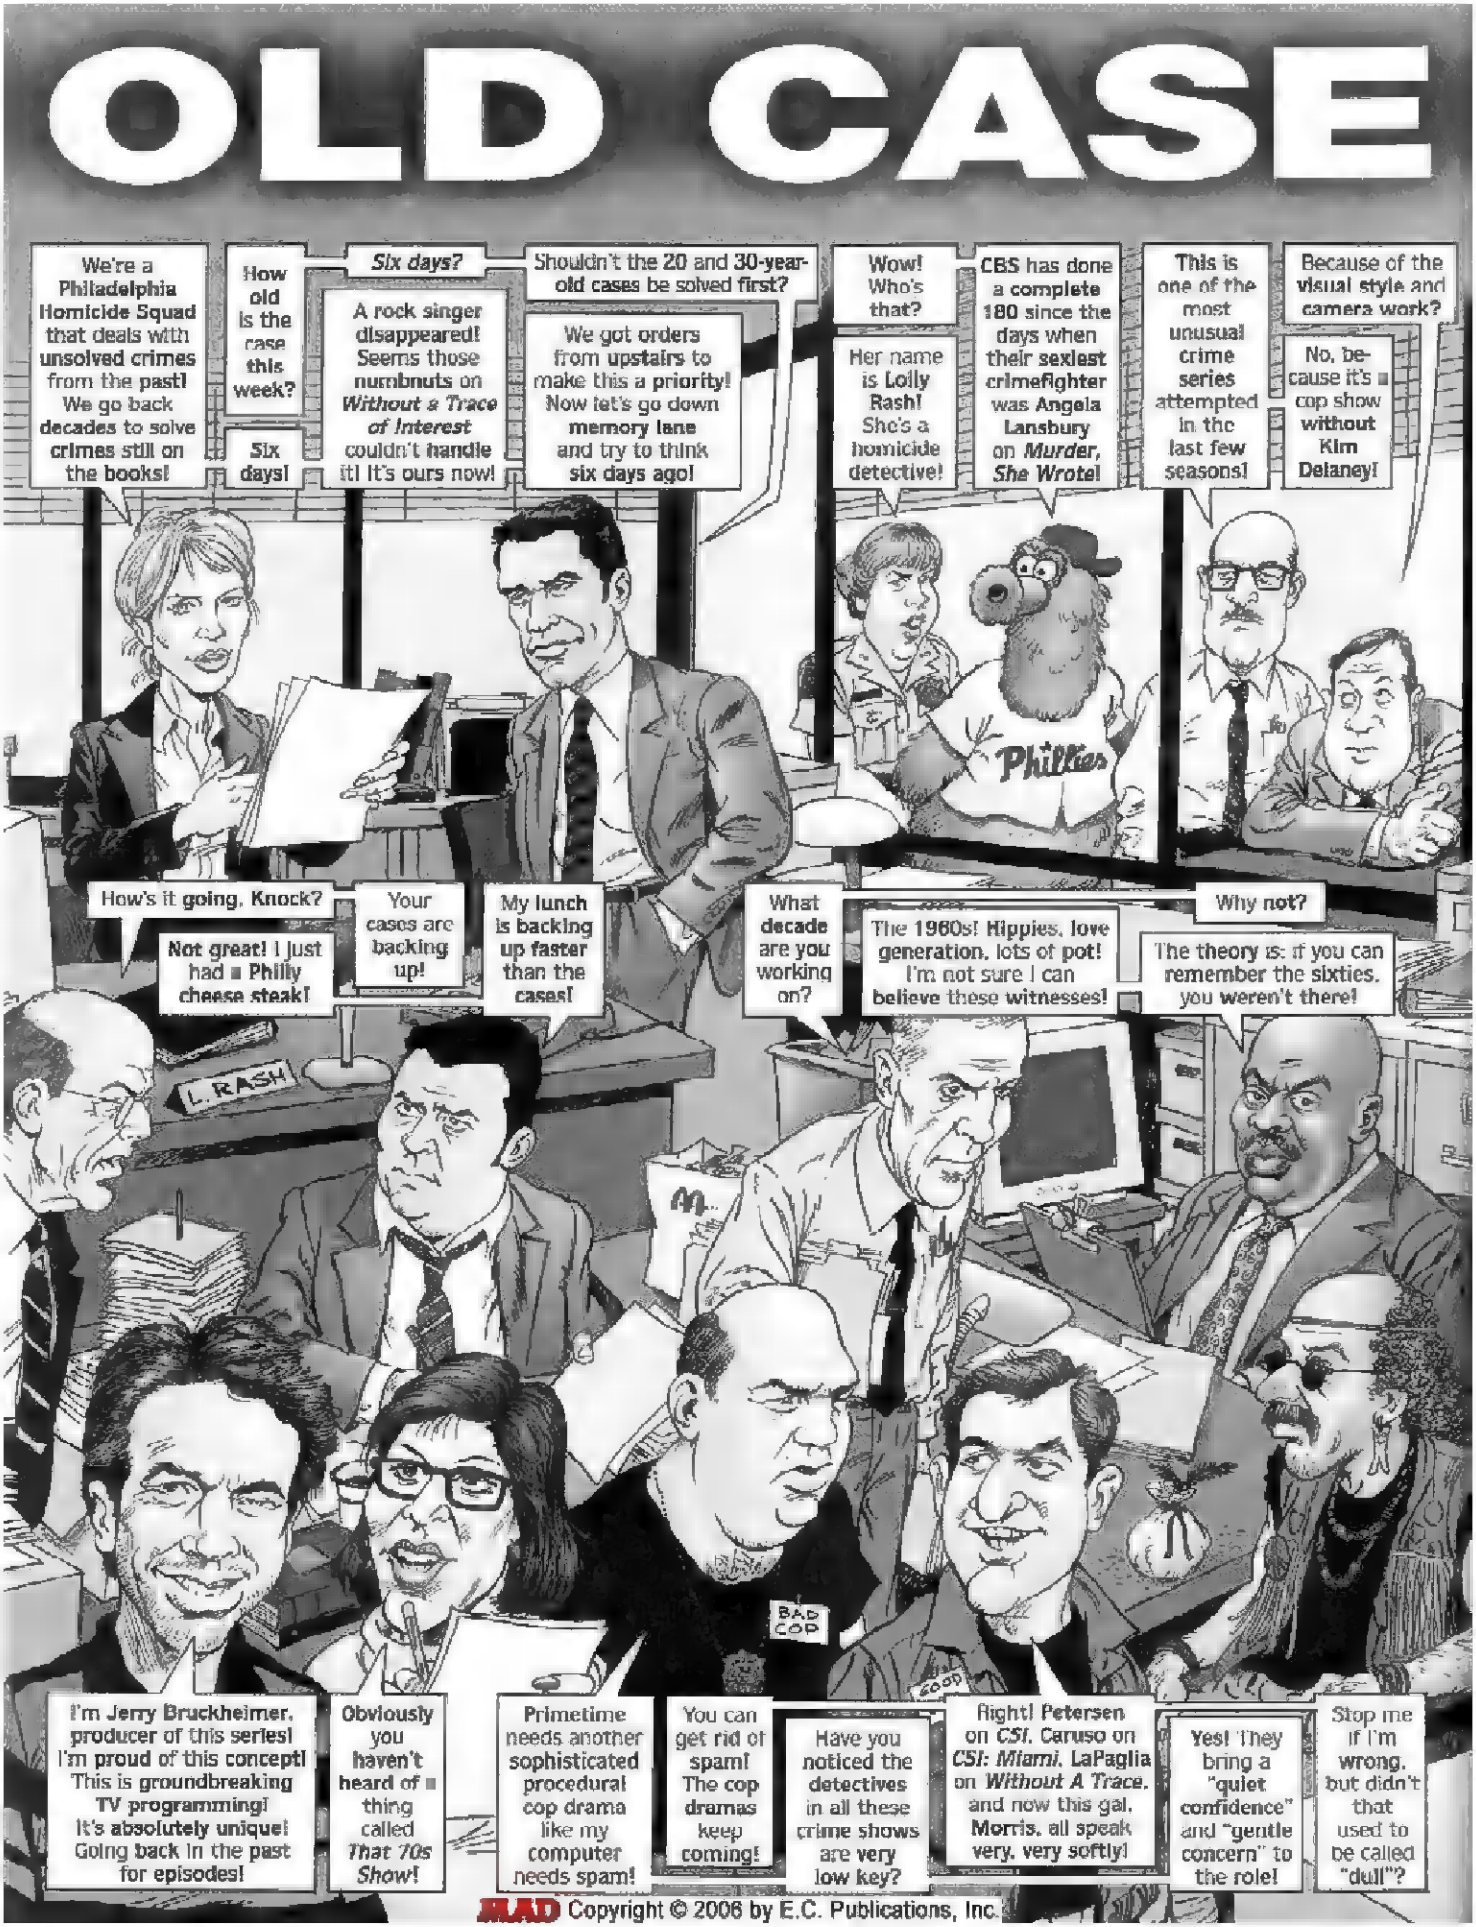
21.5 HOURS MISSING
I'll level with you, Vivo! The pressure on this job is starting to get to me!
It's rough! But all TV crime detectives have pressure! Michael Chiklis from The Shield! Jerry Orbach from Law & Order!
Michael Chiklis and Jerry Orbach don't have a damn ticking clock running across their butts!
37.75 HOURS MISSING
18.2 MINUTES SINCE ANY NOTICEABLE PLOT TWIST
Found his wallet! Cash, a fake ID and 18 wallet-size photos!
We need to check out those people!
That's going to be tough! All 18 were photos of himself!
43.5 HOURS MISSING
18.2 MINUTES SINCE ANTHONY LAPAGLIA CHANGED HIS FACIAL EXPRESSION
Check this out! It's from 1959!
Crime scene evidence?
It's the last time Anthony LaPaglia smiled!
He was a baby then! That could have been gas!
Whatever it was, it was an improvement! Right now he looks like he's a finalist in this summer's "Russell Crowe 'Brooding Actors' Festival"!
MAD Copyright © 2006 by E.C. Publications, Inc.

Hack, isn't it time we interviewed suspects?
I see it! I see the damn timeline! But first we have one of our famous revealing flashbacks!
61.7 HOURS MISSING
12.2 MINUTES SINCE VIEWERS STARTING DOZING
Yo!
What up, dawg?
Cool!
Hey!
Just chillin'!
Later, man!
That's revealing?
It reveals they're idiots!
We're definitely not going to be checking for clues at Mensa!
Judson couldn't deal with the pressure! Emo bands were over! His 15 minutes were up! He freaked!
You two fought! He let you go as his manager!
He let everyone go! He let his personal trainer go! He let his drug dealer go! He had burnout at 17 and went to live at home!
What happened there?
After a week, he let his mother go!
Mr. Osbourne, you had a feud going with Judson?
I hated the no-talent @$%^& The lad's a !@#$%^&! punk! But I didn't kill him!
Where were you on Jan 23rd?
I was home biting off the heads of chickens!
Any witnesses?
There were 12 other chickens who lived! Ask any of them!
71 HOURS MISSING
42.7 MINUTES SINCE VIEWERS GRABBED REMOTES AND STARTED SWITCHING TO ER
I've got good news and bad news! The good news...next season the writers are going to get into the personal lives of the agents! I hear they're creating a love interest!
What's the bad news?
Rumor is it's going to be you and Dimmy!
Hack, we just got a call from John Travolta!
What's the problem?
His career is missing!
What, again?
It vanished! He needs help finding it!
We don't do vanished careers, do we?
We're not doing well with vanished people! Let's give this a shot! This missing career thing could be huge! We can turn this rock singer mystery over to those dipwads on...

MAD Copyright © 2006 by E.C. Publications, Inc.



OLD CASE
We're a Philadelphia Homicide Squad that deals with unsolved crimes from the past! We go back decades to solve crimes still on the books!
How old is the case this week?
Six days!
Six days?
A rock singer disappeared! Seems those numbnuts on Without a Trace of Interest couldn't handle it! It's ours now!
Shouldn't the 20 and 30-year-old cases be solved first?
We got orders from upstairs to make this a priority! Now let's go down memory lane and try to think six days ago!
Wow! Who's that?
Her name is Lolly Rash! She's a homicide detective!
CBS has done a complete 180 since the days when their sexiest crimefighter was Angela Lansbury on Murder, She Wrote!
This is one of the most unusual crime series attempted in the last few seasons!
Because of the visual style and camera work?
No, because it's a cop show without Kim Delaney!
How's it going, Knock?
Not great! I just had a Philly cheese steak!
Your cases are backing up!
My lunch is backing up faster than the cases!
What decade are you working on?
The 1960s! Hippies, love generation, lots of pot! I'm not sure I can believe these witnesses!
Why not?
The theory is: if you can remember the sixties, you weren't there!
L. RASH
BAD COP
I'm Jerry Bruckheimer, producer of this series! I'm proud of this concept! This is groundbreaking TV programming! It's absolutely unique! Going back in the past for episodes!
Obviously you haven't heard of a thing called That 70s Show!
Primetime needs another sophisticated procedural cop drama like my computer needs spam!
You can get rid of spam! The cop dramas keep coming!
Have you noticed the detectives in all these crime shows are very low key?
Right! Petersen on CSI, Caruso on CSI: Miami, LaPaglia on Without A Trace, and now this gal, Morris, all speak very, very softly!
Yes! They bring a "quiet confidence" and "gentle concern" to the role!
Stop me if I'm wrong, but didn't that used to be called "dull"?
MAD Copyright © 2006 by E.C. Publications, Inc.

How come you're doing your report on a manual typewriter?
I'm investigating a case in the 1950s! I want to live in the past! I want to feel part of that era!
Great! Here's your weekly salary, forty three dollars! Oh, and go out and buy me a cup of coffee! Here's a nickel! Complaints? Don't tell me! Tell President Eisenhower!
This is the big gimmick on this show! We see characters morph from past to present! We see them 30-40 years ago and then see that same character today and how much they've aged!
Dramas like Hill Street Blues, Homicide and Columbo became huge hits with their gimmick! But it wasn't morphing or cool effects!
What was their gimmick?
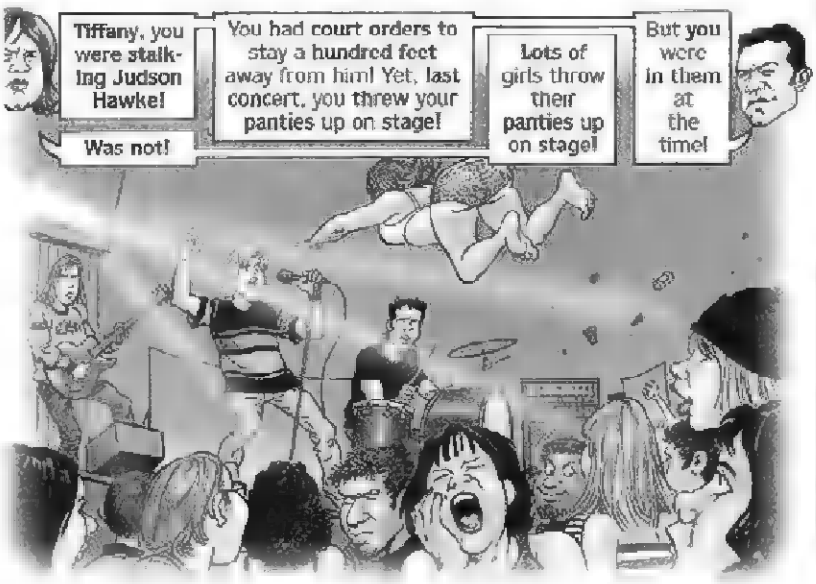
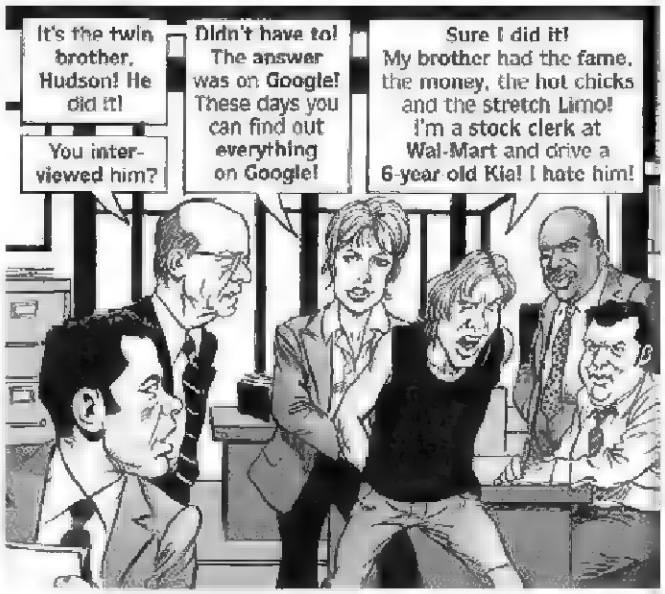
They had a thing called solid writing and good acting!
Listen up, everybody! We have to forget about the old cases and investigate this new one! Here's what we have: Judson Hawke, 17, rock singer for the boy band, Bulge, disappeared on August 20th!
Isn't Thorn a little ancient to be investigating an emo band?
He's a little ancient to be investigating chamber music!
Every week we see Lolly digging out dusty files in the storage room!
It gives a gritty reality to her character! She has pert good looks, but isn't afraid to get down and dirty!
Yeah! In this scene she actually has two wisps of hair out of place!
Look, guys, Lolly is a tough, intelligent detective! She hates it when you guys think of her as just a pretty face!
Hey! No way! She has pretty legs, too!
And an incredible rack!
And look at that smokin' set of —
Uh, guys! I think we're missing the point here!
Okay, here's the scoop on Judson! We've narrowed the suspects down to his drug dealer, his twin brother, his grandmother and 346 women who have stalked him!
346 stalkers?
Yes! And you'll be interviewing all of them! Start with Tiffany Shlemendrik of Altoona, PA!
J. HAWKE
MAD Copyright © 2006 by E.C. Publications, Inc.

You're his drug dealer!
Hey, maybe!
Can you tell me where you were at 7 p.m. Tuesday?
Dude, I can't tell you where I am now!
Hmm! Perhaps we better move on to other suspects!

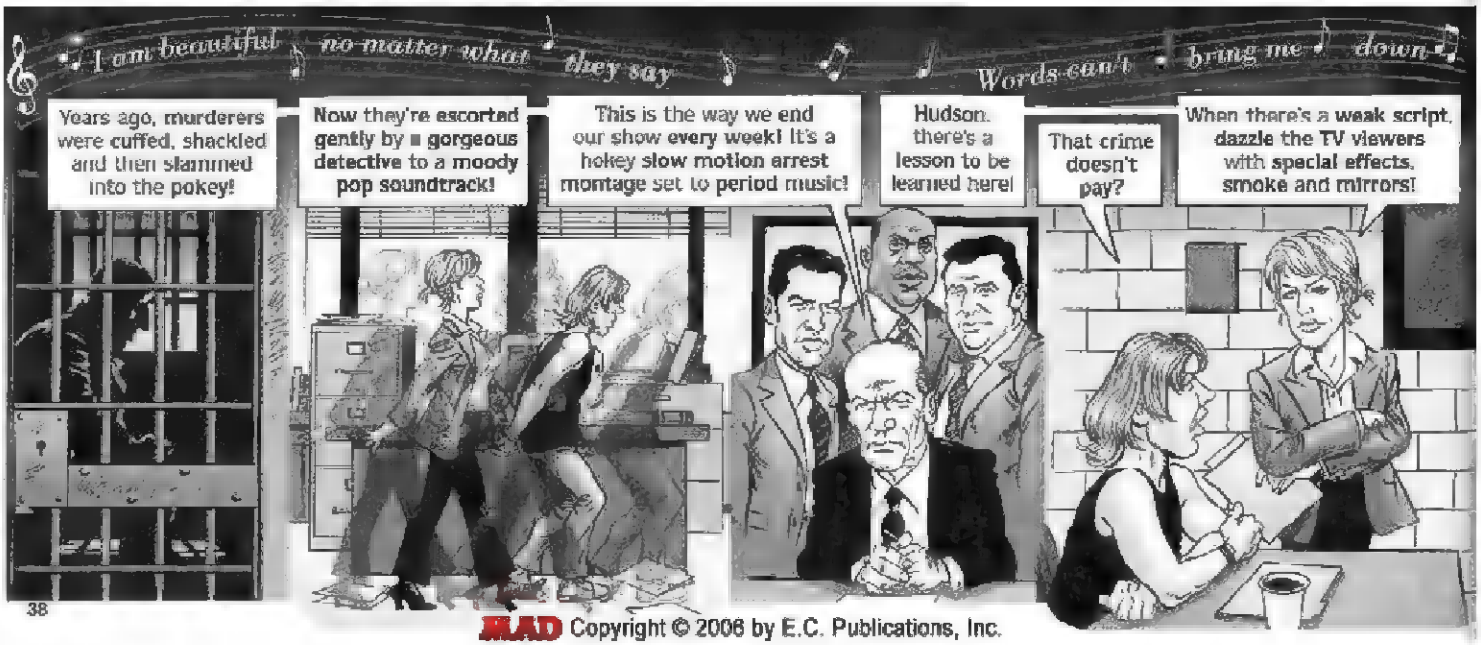
I'm with the police!
May I say I feel like taking the law into my own hands?
You may not!
Why not?
We're going back 30 years for plots! We're not going that far back for bad one-liners!



Tiffany, you were stalking Judson Hawke!
Was not!
You had court orders to stay a hundred feet away from him! Yet, last concert, you threw your panties up on stage!
Lots of girls throw their panties up on stage!
But you were in them at the time!



It's the twin brother, Hudson! He did it!
You interviewed him?
Didn't have to! The answer was on Google! These days you can find out everything on Google!
Sure I did it! My brother had the fame, the money, the hot chicks and the stretch Limo! I'm a stock clerk at Wal-Mart and drive a 6-year old Kia! I hate him!



I am beautiful no matter what they say
Words can't bring me down
Years ago, murderers were cuffed, shackled and then slammed into the pokey!
Now they're escorted gently by a gorgeous detective to a moody pop soundtrack!
This is the way we end our show every week! It's a hokey slow motion arrest montage set to period music!
Hudson, there's a lesson to be learned here!
That crime doesn't pay?
When there's a weak script, dazzle the TV viewers with special effects, smoke and mirrors!

It's that hotly un-anticipated time of year again, when TV Guide, People, Us Weekly, Entertainment Weekly and every Sunday newspaper TV section in America bombard us with a plethora of boring stories about this season's lame new shows and lame new episodes of old shows the networks should have long since cancelled. We figure, why can't we waste some pages doing the same thing? With that in mind, we proudly present...

MAD'S FALL

FEAR FACTOR • 8 p.m. Mondays • NBC

As with each successive incarnation of the stomach-churning Fear Factor, actual adrenaline-pumping stunts continue to take a backseat to what viewers really want to see — contestants eating intensely repulsive stuff. Ape-like host Joe Rogan boasts, "We've lined up some really nasty-ass crap for contestants to chow down." Iron-stomached viewers beware: Among the "foods" those competing will have to swallow are bright orange circus peanuts, McDonald's Shamrock Shakes, low-grade chocolate pieces from a Christmas 2002 Advent calendar, heavily-salted Mexican candy and assorted fixin's from a Sizzler salad bar in Rosemead, California.

SPOILER ALERT! Fear Factor will be rolling out the big guns for sweeps weeks throughout the season with an "All-Implants" episode, featuring six contestants with breast implants (as opposed to the usual three) for Joe Rogan to ogle and drool over; and an episode — sure to become a fan favorite — with six players all prone to spontaneous bouts of chronic projectile vomiting — and poor Joe without an umbrella!

new! FATHER OF THE PRIDE • 9 p.m. Tuesdays • NBC

Armed with enormous amounts of money and obviously having learned nothing from the spectacular failures of God, the Devil and Bob and Stressed Eric, NBC has teamed up with the producers of Shrek to heave another animated primetime network comedy into the sacrificial pit at the feet of The Simpsons. John Goodman heads up a few-star cast as the voice of the leader of the pride of white lions who perform in the world-famous Siegfried and Roy show, presumably in some sort of alternate universe where Roy was not almost mauled to death on stage and continues to perform.

WATCH FOR NBC desperately trying to recoup its hefty investment on this expensive, all-CGI show by cancelling it after airing three episodes and selling the entire run for pennies on the dollar to the graveyard of failed primetime animation — Cartoon Network's late night lineup, probably around December.

TU PREVIEW

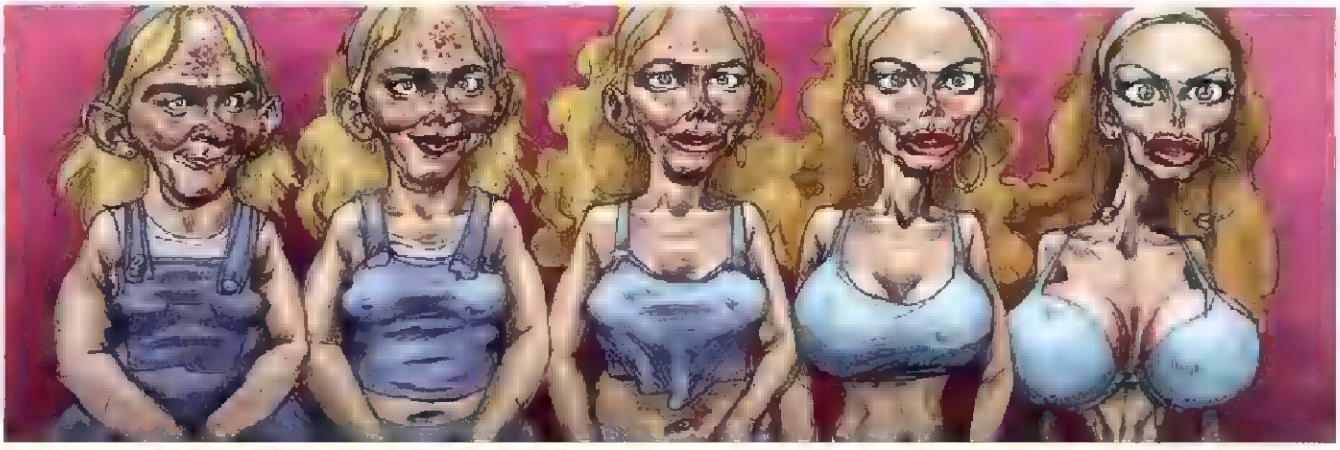
LOST • 8 p.m. Wednesdays • ABC

A stellar ensemble cast of nobodies stars in this drama broadly plagiarized from Cast Away and Survivor, while exploiting America's increasing paranoia with air travel. Producer J.J. Abrams offers this action-packed adventure in hopes of keeping his parking space on the ABC lot now that audiences are losing interest in his muddled and confusing Alias. 48 survivors of a Pacific Island plane crash must forget their differences and work together to ensure that all plots revolve around the four or five stars while forty-some-odd others remain in the background and safely out of all close-ups.

WATCH FOR: The cast of Gilligan's Island to make the all-too-obvious last-panel appearance in the unlikely event this series lasts long enough to warrant a MAD satire.

THE SWAN 2 • 9 p.m. Mondays • FOX

The old show-biz adage "You can't polish a turd" comes to life yet again as FOX's surprise hit of last season returns with more women in overalls than the audience at an Indigo Girls concert. This season's pathetic pack of self-esteem-challenged woofers will risk, well, really, nothing at all, in a dramatic transformation that will ultimately take one of them down the alley from fugly, pimple-faced porker to pole-dancing Vegas stripper in clown-whore makeup.



WHAT'S NEW: In a twist that would make Dr. Moreau proud, the losing contestant of each pair will relinquish whatever shred of human dignity and self-worth she still possesses and submit to plastic surgery and body modification where actual parts harvested from Canada geese and trumpeter swans will be grafted onto her body. These contestants will then begin a new life in various traveling carnival sideshows.

THE O.C.
8 p.m. Thursdays • FOX

The O.C. is back for another season and you'll be surprised — that is if you've never seen a single episode of Beverly Hills, 90210, Melrose Place, or, God forbid, Models, Inc. In this non-ground-breaking season, oh, let's see...someone gets shot, probably; someone gets, oh, pregnant; someone's going to probably OD; someone inconsequential gets killed; something blows up and/or burns down, and someone who feels he or she doesn't fit in sits around and broods, all to a heavily-promoted and annoying soundtrack.

SPOILER ALERT! Emotions run high mid-season when Cohen family patriarch Sandy (Peter Gallagher) suffers a near-fatal surfing mishap and nearly drowns when his enormous eyebrows absorb so much water they pull him under.

THE CONTENDER
8 p.m. Tuesdays • NBC

Fresh from a grueling workout as The Toymaker in Spy Kids 3, former movie star Sylvester Stallone continues his backslide into obscurity, completely bypassing the high-paying "Japanese Commercial" phase and stumbling directly into the ring of network television. The Contender follows the lives of 16 boxers not selected in a nationwide search for Oscar De La Hoya's (rip-off) reality show on FOX. Sly is cautiously optimistic about his show, hoping that it will provide the fibrous Hollywood buzz to help him pinch out yet another Rocky sequel. "If not," he muses, "maybe it will be successful enough so I can charge fifteen bucks for a signed still of me at one of those autograph shows."

WATCH FOR: The Contender II, The Contender III, The Contender IV, The Contender V, The Contender VI.

EXTREME MAKEOVER

The Extreme Makeover team has scoured America's trailer parks, food courts, bail bond offices, crack houses and NASCAR events for another batch of stringy haired, pockmarked, dentally-challenged freaks. Once again, the nation's most hideous misfits are rewarded for their lack of hygiene, negligent oral care, piss-poor diet and Goodwill fashion sense by being transformed into living, wheezing works of art.

new!

LISTEN UP
8:30 p.m. Mondays • CBS

Jason Alexander is back (for a few months maybe) starring, temporarily, as Tony Clineman, an irreverent sports show host. Poor Tony has got his hands full, juggling the show, a newspaper column, and a standard issue sitcom family — all the while waiting for the infamous Seinfeld Curse to rear its ugly, Grim Reaper-like head again by banishing this dog of a sitcom to the Land of Cancelled, and send Jason back to musical theatre and celebrity card games on the Gameshow Network.

WATCH FOR: Old episodes of Seinfeld in syndication. Or even The Cosby Show reruns on Nick at Nite.

AVERAGE JOE

It's the backne boys versus the Abercrombie crowd in yet another pointless, practically pre-determined go-round of NBC's one-note reality series where women are revealed to be just as shallow as the men they're always bitching about. Who will this season's horny hypocrite choose: the stick-armed CPA or the buff personal trainer? The balding file clerk or the long-haired rocker god? The computer programmer with braces or the unemployed actor with the killer smile? See our heroine fidget as she cuts loose more and more of the pencil-necks while trying to decide whether ab definition or bicep size will ultimately be the deciding factor on who gets to sleep with her first after all the losers have been sent packing.

WHAT'S NEW? Any "Average Joe" who is referred to in the blatantly disingenuous "I'm sorry I had to cut you" speech as "cute," "sweet" or "a really nice guy" wins immunity for another week and is immediately returned to the pool of contestants, forcing the woman to come up with new, more creative lies or possibly even resort to, heaven forbid, blatant honesty.

p.m. Thursdays • ABC

SPOILER ALERT! Controversy has already rocked this season's Extreme Makeover as of the show's most pathetic cases were later revealed to be first season guests who reverted their former selves (and reportedly were unrecognized by the producers) after being unable keep up with their obscenely expensive makeover regimen — which typically includes 100-a-session-three-times-a-week personal trainers, current season designer clothes, 100 hair stylists, Beverly Hills make-up artists, nutritionists to the stars and toothpaste.

THE BACHELOR
9 p.m. Wednesdays • ABC

TV's most ruthless reality show, The Bachelor, returns to ABC's lineup, once again pitting one lone man against a vicious pack of crazed, man-hungry, desperate, back-biting women forcing him to dance a grotesquely contrived, cartoonishly romantic dance of death with each one until he's deftly vanquished two dozen would-be fiancées with the crushingly humiliating stigma of being rejected on national TV. Yet one woman alone will realize her dream: winning the hand of the stranger she "loves," appearing on the cover of three months' worth of People and Us Weekly, and unloading that engagement ring on eBay two months later, once it all goes sour.

WHAT'S NEW? This season, the Bachelor finds out exactly what sort of hell he's in for as each of the twenty-five contestants, one at a time (and with her mother!), are casually led into a wedding planner's boutique, while hidden cameras and microphones pick up everything.

new!

CSI: NY
10 p.m. Wednesdays • CBS

The newest addition to the popular CSI family of series stars Gary Sinise as Mack "Mac" Taylor, a dedicated and driven can-do New York City police detective with rugged good looks. Emmy Award-nominee Melina Kanakaredes plays his partner, a smart and sexy workaholic who's a jack-of-all-trades. Together, they lead a team of jacks-of-all-trades, can-do forensic experts who are either workaholics, dedicated and driven, possess rugged good looks, or are smart and sexy. These skilled investigators search the steamy underbelly of the city for evidence and clues to solve such mysteries as "Who killed Gary Sinise's movie career?"

WATCH FOR: Exciting business opportunities. If interested in owning a CSI franchise in your city or town, please contact Programming, CBS Television, 51 West 52nd Street, New York, NY, 10019.

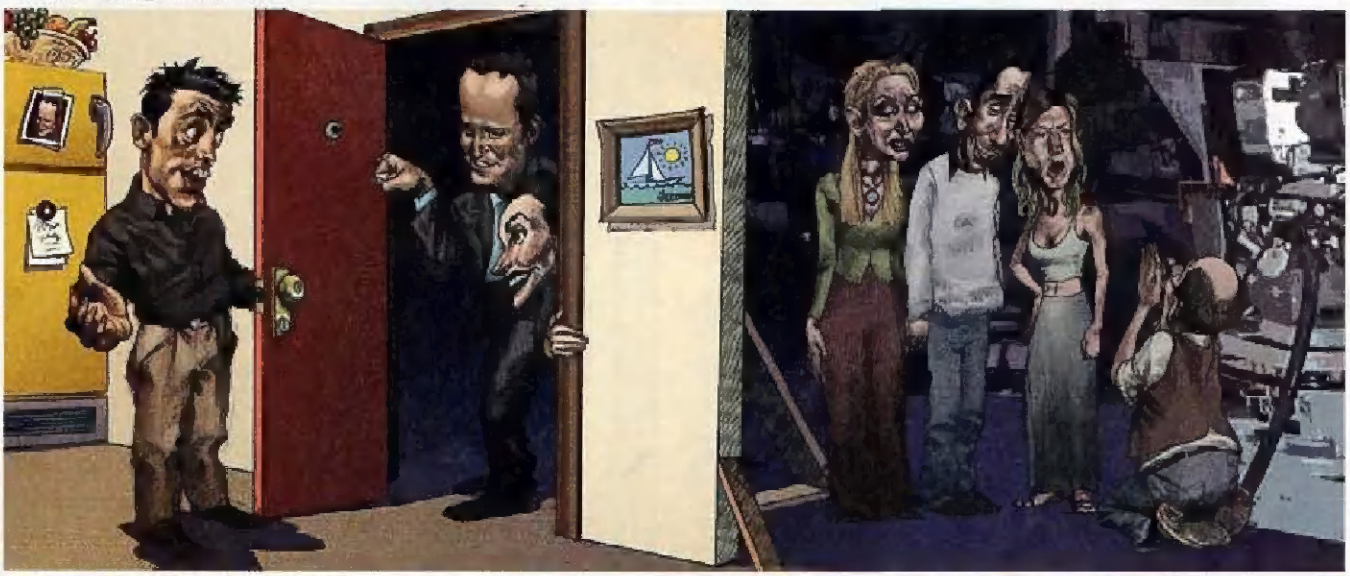
JOEY • 8 p.m. Thursdays • NBC

Emmy non-winner Matt LeBlanc evidently still doesn't feel creatively fulfilled after playing horny dumbass Joey for an entire decade, and reprises the most one-dimensional and expendable character of the Friends cast, now transplanted to Los Angeles, where the aspiring actor will continue to flounder through countless auditions and forgettable roles, which should be good practice for early 2005, when he'll be doing that for real.



WATCH FOR: Matt and the producers calling in five desperate favors to some old "Friends" as the ratings plummet.

WHAT'S CAUSING THE UNEMPLOYMENT RATE TO RISE EVERY WEEK?

HERE WE GO WITH ANOTHER RIDICULOUS

MAD FOLD-IN

It seems it is harder than ever to keep a job in this country. Part of the problem stems from companies going bankrupt, outsourcing jobs to India or downsizing their staffs. There is, however, one main cause for the nation's skyrocketing unemployment rate. To find out what it is, fold page in as shown.

FOLD PAGE OVER LIKE THIS!

YOU HEAR A LOT ABOUT THE LOSS OF JOBS LATELY. THEY'RE FINALLY ADMITTING THE UNEMPLOYED ARE UNPREPARED TO COPE WITH THE UNHAPPINESS THIS CAUSES.

DON'T PAY ATTENTION TO BIGSHOTS WHO BOLDLY TELL BALD FACED LIES ABOUT UNEMPLOYMENT FIGURES. THEY TRY TO CONVINCE JOB SEEKERS TO BELIEVE THEM AND JUMP ON THEIR SIDE OF THE ISSUE. THEY LOUDLY PROCLAIM, "THE APPARATUS FOR JOB CREATION OPERATES QUITE DIFFERENTLY TODAY. JOBS ARE MOSTLY IN MILITARY SERVICE"
